City's Truck Scales Paying Off

$9,669 Collected In Fines To Date

Salem's truck-weighing scales, installed near the city water-works station on W. State St. in November, 1951, have paid for themselves several times over, the mayor's court dockets show.

Purchased and set in place at a cost of approximately $2,000, the scales have resulted in an income to the city of $9,669.50 up to the present time.

The income is half of the total of the fines assessed truckdrivers arrested for overload. The balance of the $19,339.50 went to the state.

Salem State Highway Patrolmen manning the scales at unspecified times of day and night, nabbed a total of 280 drivers on overload charges during the past 16 months.

The greatest number of arrests occurred in December, 1951, and January, 1952, when 47 and 50 drivers, respectively, were cited. June 1952 was the lowest month in arrests, with only three truckers paying overload penalties.

January, 1952, was the high month in income derived from overload fines. A total of $3,564 in penalties was meted out during that month in Mayor Harry M. Vincent's court, with the amount divided equally between the city and the state. Last October was the lowest month in income from overload fines, with only $262 realized from the five arrests made.

The highest single fine occurred June 23, 1952, when a trucker was assessed a penalty of $868 for driving a vehicle carrying 28,100 pounds of illegal weight. The complete load weight of that vehicle was in excess of that carried by 40-ton boxcars, the patrol explained.

Under state laws, a fine of $25 and costs must be assessed truckers carrying overloads not in excess of 2,000 pounds. If the overload is between 2,000 and 5,000 pounds, the fine is $1 per each 100 pounds overweight, plus $25 and costs.

Drivers carrying overweight loads between 5,000 and 10,000 pounds are subject to a fine of $2 per each 100 pounds overload, plus $25 and costs and, if the magistrate so desires, a jail sentence of 30 days.

If the overweight load is in excess of 10,000 pounds, the fine is $3 per each 100 pounds illegal weight, plus $25 and costs and the jail sentence.

Farmer, 9 Members Of Family Die In Truck-Auto Accident

WASHINGTON, N. J. (AP)—A 32-year-old dairy farmer and nine members of his family lost their lives in a head on highway crash last night as they were on their way to do the weekly shopping.

Their 1953 sedan was crumpled in a collision with a trailer truck on a two-lane highway in Warren County.

State police said it was one of the worst traffic accidents in the history of New Jersey.

Killed outright were Clarence Matlock, who operated a 60-cow dairy farm in rural Silver Lake, N. J., his wife, Alma; three daughters, Ester, 10, Joan, 5, and Rosemary, 2; a son, Clarence Jr., 1, his mother, Elizabeth, 75, and his two sisters, Grace, 48, and Mary, 50.

Another son, Raymond, the only member of the family taken from the car alive, died in a Warren hospital early this morning—on his eighth birthday.

Two men in the truck escaped uninjured. They were the driver, John Scaraminto of Scanton, Pa., and the owner, Lawrence Butler of Dunmore, Pa.

Scaraminto, dazed and horror-stricken, was booked at state police barracks here on a technical charge of causing death by auto. Butler told police his truck was following a coal truck going north on the highway when the coal truck put on its brakes and pulled over to the right shoulder of the road.

Then they saw a car coming straight at them, Butler said, and Scaraminto pulled across the left lane onto the left shoulder to try to avoid the car.

But the car also pulled for the same shoulder, Butler reported and the vehicles collided.

A short time after the accident, Matlock's brother, Raymond, also headed for Washington's shopping center, came upon the wreck on the highway.

He said the family always made a Friday night shopping trip to this community and this trip was a special occasion because it was the eve of young Raymond's birthday.

Relatives said Matlock's mother is survived by 70 grandchildren.

160 Girls Stage Institution Riot

National Guard Alerted In California

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP)—The riot-ridden Los Guilcoos School for delinquent girls quieted to an uneasy tenseness during the night, but California Youth Authority Director Heman Stark called the situation a potential powder keg.

Police threw an all-night cordon around the school grounds following two riots in the past 24 hours.

Stark had received an okay from Gov. Earl Warren to alert a company of National Guard troops from Santa Rosa in case of an emergency. But they have not been ordered on to the school grounds yet.

Police said the 160 teenage girls are still uncontrolled. Many are armed with knives and broken glass, officers added.

School officials were overheard commenting that the recent break-up of a homosexual ring may have incited the riot.

The first riot broke out at dinner time Thursday when 15 girls, breaking windows, overturning tables and ripping window screens, made a break for freedom. They were all captured within hours.

Inmates who didn't participate in the riot and supervisors were threatened by ringleaders, school authorities said.

In the second flareup the 15 girls broke out of a maximum security compound just after noon yesterday. They wrapped sweaters around their fists and smashed windows, and armed themselves with glass slivers and knives, which they took from the school kitchen.

Other girls broke out in groups of two and three each, but were captured.

California Youth Authority officers said they would seek a court order to ship six ringleaders to the Sonoma County jail and another six to the Napa state hospital where they could be held in maximum security.

Czechs Name Zapotocky As New President

Former Prime Minister Helped Organize Red Party In Country

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Czech Parliament unanimously elected Prime Minister Antonin Zapotocky, 68, the new president of Czechoslovakia today. He succeeds Klement Gottwald, the powerful Communist boss who died a week ago today.

All 271 members of Parliament present voted for Zapotocky, one time boss of the nation's trade unions, Prague radio said.

There was no immediate hint as to who would succeed Zapotocky as prime minister, a post he had held since June, 1948. He succeeded Gottwald in that job also, when Gottwald became president.

Zapotocky had been considered the most likely choice to succeed Gottwald. A former stonecutter who was born at Zakolny near Kladno in Bohemia, on Dec. 19, 1884, Zapotocky obtained only elementary school education. He early followed in the footsteps of his father, a tailor, who was a founder of the Czech Social Democratic Party.

After service in the Austro-Hungarian Army in World War I, Zapotocky became a co-founder of the Communist party in 1921 and was a Communist deputy in the Czech republic's new Parliament.

The Nazis arrested him and threw him into a concentration camp when they took over Czechoslovakia in 1939. In camp he became a trustee, and was charged with responsibility for the death of a number of Dutch inmates of the camp. As a result the Dutch government three times sought his extradition on war crimes charges in 1947. But the Czech government of the then president, Eduard Benes, refused the requests. Gottwald at the time was premier.

The deputies, summoned only Friday to a session to elect a president, learned only after they got into the hall who was to be the nominee.

Then it was announced the Central Committee of the Communist party and the Communist-dominated National Front proposed Zapotocky, a life-long revolutionary and union boss who got only an elementary education in his youth. The announcement by Deputy Prime Minister Vilem Siroky was greeted by loud cheers, and Zapotocky was sworn in within 15 minutes.

The Supreme Soviet in Moscow had more notice when it was called upon just last Sunday to confirm Georgi Malenkov as Stalin's successor as prime minister.

The Czech Central Committee also proposed to Zapotocky that Siroky be the new premier.

Siroky, 50, has been vice premier. Like Zapotocky, Siroky helped organize the Communist party in Czechoslovakia. In March, 1951, he succeeded the purged Vlado Clementis as foreign minister, but gave up that job early this year.

Beams Arrive For Lisbon Bridge Job

LISBON — Officials of the Hatcher Brothers, Mingo contractors, said erection of heavy steel beams for the new Canton Bridge may begin next week as the last of the steel arrived on the site.

The bridge may be open for traffic by July 1, according to E. H. Tilton, project engineer for Division 11 of the State Highway Department.

Some 326 tons of structural steel and 111 tons of reinforcing steel arrived during the past week in 13 railroad cars.

Construction on the $399,000 span began last July and replaces the old bridge built in 1882. Before the project was started, one-way traffic was maintained on the old span for several years because of the weakened condition of the bridge.

League Formed To Oust Bedford Heights Mayor

CLEVELAND (AP)—Twenty residents of Bedford Heights formed a civic league Friday night, with the expressed purpose of ousting the suburb's tear gas - shooting mayor.

The mayor, Robert E. Willefort, shot motorist Saul Goldstone in the face with a tear gas gun during a traffic arrest. Goldstone still is in a hospital, with both eyes severely injured.

The new civic group plans to circulate petitions for Willefort's removal. To succeed, they would have to secure the signatures of at least 15 per cent of the voters at the suburb's last election.

Senator Tobey Defends Bohlen Nomination Issue

Lashes Out Sharply In Obvious Slap At Sen. McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Tobey (R-NH) pitched into the fight over Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination as ambassador to Russia today by denouncing McCarthy's opposition for trying "to stall the president in the back."

"They will not succeed," the fiery little senator declared, "and Bohlen will be confirmed Monday in an overwhelming vote of confidence in Eisenhower."

One of Bohlen's critics, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), demanded that Secretary of State Dulles be "put under oath" and questioned further by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

McCarthy voiced the demand in the wake of Dulles' news conference yesterday in which the secretary disputed Sen. McCarran's (D-Nev.) contention that Dulles "cleared" Bohlen over objections from W. R. Scott McLeod, the State Department's new security officer.

Lead Bohlen Opposition

McCarran, McCarthy and Sen. Bridges—Senate temporary president and Tobey's GOP colleague from New Hampshire—are leading the admitted minority opposing Bohlen.

Tobey mentioned no names, but he told this reporter:

"The opposition comes from a little group of willful men. For 20 years we've been trying to get a Republican administration. Instead of upholding the President, they are trying to block him and put daggers in his back. They are attacking the President and trying to undermine his administration. "These critics are not worthy to unlace either Achilles' or Bohlen's shoes."

Dean Acheson, when secretary of state under former President Truman, was heavily criticized by Republicans, particularly McCarthy.

Lashes Senator McCarthy

Tobey was the first GOP senator to speak out so sharply in an obvious slap at McCarthy, chairman of the Senate's permanent investigating committee.

McCarthy failed yesterday for the second straight day to bring McLeod before that committee for questioning in a closed session. The security officer reportedly is out of town, but McCarthy said he expected to have the committee question him today.

McCarthy said that, from the information he had received, Dulles' assertion that he and McLeod were in agreement about Bohlen "would appear to be untrue."

Both Dulles and McLeod should be called before the Foreign Relations Committee for questioning under oath, he said and added: "McLeod is a very truthful man."

Western Observers Study Latest Kremlin Peace Moves

LONDON (AP)—Western observers listening recent Soviet moves today reported encouraging signs of a new conciliatory Russian attitude toward the West. The feeling was heightened by a Kremlin promise of immediate action toward freeing British civilian prisoners in North Korea.

The promise was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov and announced last night by the British Foreign Office. Although the Foreign Office warned against premature optimism, the Soviet move followed two other developments that foreign diplomats in Moscow said could have a profound impact on world peace. These were:

1. The proposal by Gen. Vassily Chuikov, Soviet commander in Germany, for British-Russian talks to avoid future East-West air incidents. The Russian general surprised the West by expressing regret over the death of seven British airmen in a Lincoln bomber shot down by Soviet MIGs over the Iron Curtain.

2. President Eisenhower's statement last Thursday that the U. S. always would go half way toward any Soviet attempt to settle world issues.

Central Committee Secretary Post Relinquished By Malenkov

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov, new chief of the Soviet government, has resigned his post as secretary of the Russian Communist party's powerful Central Committee. A five-man Secretariat, headed by former Ukrainian party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, takes over.

The change was announced today by Pravda, the party's newspaper.

Homes At Berlin Reservoir Found Built On U.S. Land

Investigations conducted recently by the Pittsburgh District, Corps of Engineers, have disclosed several instances where persons have constructed houses and other improvements partly on government land acquired for the Berlin Reservoir Project north of here.

This was revealed today by Lt. Col. Harold E. Nelson, the district's executive officer.

"We are presently assembling all of the facts," Col. Nelson stated, "so that we can consider the action to be taken by the United States with respect to the encroachments. Certainly the encroachments will not be condoned."

"Persons who are buying land or constructing improvements adjoining the Berlin Reservoir should exercise care to insure that they are not encroaching upon the property of the United States," the colonel warned.

Robert Travis of the state crime bureau, after examining handwriting samples of H. R. Marshall and Dr. Cecil W. Lemon, testified that in his opinion the prescriptions were signed by Marshall.

One sample, signed "Toby Marshall" over M. D., prescribed chloral hydrate, a powerful sedative, for Williams before the entertainer's death in West Virginia Dec. 31.

Marshall, whose parole from a forgery sentence has been revoked, denied he "ever conspired to take the life of Hank Williams." The singer's widow told the committee she thought the convict's treatments contributed to her husband's death.

Williams died following a heart attack.

Allied Planes Down 5 MIGs

Damage 7 Others In Furious Battles

SEOUL (AP)—Allied Sabre jets today shot down five Communist MIGs and damaged seven others in the skies over North Korea. Two American pilots downed their 10th MIGs and became double aces during the furious air battles.

Capt. Manuel Fernandez Jr. of Miami, Fla., and Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr. of Swea City, Iowa, each raised his MIG destruction score to 10, the Fifth Air Force said.

Fernandez shot down two MIGs this afternoon while Fischer shot down one.

On the ground, there were only sporadic clashes between muckered soldiers as steady rain soaked the 155-mile battlefield until near dawn.

Allied fighter bombers sliced through clearing skies to strafe and bomb the Communist front and just behind the Red lines.

Twenty American Superforts blasted Red troop and supply centers in North Korea during darkness.

First Lt. Richard P. Guidrez, from Louisiana, made two MIG claims—one downed and one damaged—his first of the war.

He got the first MIG and sent flames streaming out of the Red's tail pipe. Guidrez then went after another MIG that was on the tail of his flight leader and opened up. With one MIG down and another damaged, the Reds broke off the fight and fled.

The Fifth Air Force announced today that last week's air battles resulted in five MIGs downed, one probably and two more damaged in sky battles that caught no Sabre jets. However, Red ground gunners downed two Thunderjets during the week and two more Thunderjets and a propeller driven Marine Skyraider were lost to other causes.

School Bus Driver Gets Run-Around

HILLSIDE, N. J. (AP)—A new bus driver got a hazing yesterday when he asked his junior high school pupil passengers to help him out with directions.

They gave directions all right—and the bus wound up several miles from its school destination. After an hour's delay, the driver finally got his charges back where they started from. He just ousted them from the bus and drove off. Police got the pupils rounded up and back to school.

All On Board Die As Transport Explodes, Burns

30 Air Force Men, 5 Civilian Crewmen Are Among Victims

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—A four-engined transport plane crashed and exploded in a ball of fire south of here last night, killing 30 airmen passengers from a Roswell, N. M., base and five civilian crew members.

The plane, a Transocean Air Lines DC4, struck a hill near Decoto just a few minutes after it cleared for a landing with the Oakland Airport. Decoto is the area of California's worst air disaster—50 killed in the crash of a United Air Lines plane under similar circumstances Aug. 24, 1951. That plane, too, was about to land.

Alameda County Sheriff's Capt. Richard E. Condon at the scene of the Transocean crash said there were no survivors.

Eye witnesses said the aircraft, flying through a drizzle, smashed into the hill, broke into bits and then burst into flames.

Mrs. Henry Andrade, who lives only 300 yards from the crash scene, said she heard a crash and then a series of explosions. She ran as close to the burning plane as she could.

"I saw men with their clothes on fire—some on the ground—some trying to get up, staggering, falling back into the flames."

Alameda County sheriff's officers said bodies could be seen burning within the portion of the fuselage that remained intact. The wreckage of the plane was scattered over a quarter-mile radius in the soft, newly-plowed field where it fell.

The civilian crew included two stewardesses. The 30 airmen were from Walker Air Force Base. The Air Force said the airmen were support and maintenance specialists en route to the Far East for a tour of duty with the 509th Bomber Wing. The wing's location was not disclosed.

Many of the airmen's next-of-kin live in Roswell, said an Air Force information officer. Most of the victims had been stationed there for some time.

A rumor that the DC4 might be carrying "secret cargo" was quickly denied by the Air Force. Ambulances vainly rushed the victims to a nearby hospital. Murky fields and poor roads in the crash area hampered efforts to evacuate bodies and fight the fire.

Transocean Air Lines is the world's largest non-scheduled carrier. Its planes have flown thousands of military personnel and tons of supplies from the West Coast to Korea.

Tito Receives British Pledge Of Assistance

LONDON (AP)—Marshal Tito ended a historic visit to Britain today, leaving for Yugoslavia with a British pledge to stand by his Communist Balkan state in resisting aggression.

The Red dictator who broke with Stalin's Russia in 1948 stood stiffly at attention as the London port's launch drew away from Westminster pier.

Tito departed after a five-day visit for political, economic and military talks which formally ended Friday night with a communique from 10 Downing St., Prime Minister Churchill's residence. The communique contained no iron-clad treaty and there was no formal pact but the British government clearly expressed itself with the words:

"The two governments declare their common interest in resistance to aggression and in the preservation of national independence. "They undertook to work closely together and with other freedom-loving nations to defend peace. They were in full agreement that in the event of aggression in Europe the resulting conflict could hardly remain local in character."

Two preachers combine their talents

Most great hymns were written by ministers. To name but a few . . . John Newton . . . Church of England . . . "Amazing Grace." John Wesley . . . Methodist . . . "Jesus Lover of My Soul." August Toplady . . . Calvinist . . . "Rock of Ages." Isaac Watts . . . Congregationalist . . . "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." John Fawcett . . . Baptist . . . "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Edward Hopper . . . Presbyterian . . . "Jesus, Saviour Pilot Me." Henry Francis Lyte . . . Anglican . . . "Abide With Me." John Henry Newman . . . Roman Catholic . . . "Lead, Kindly Light." Martin Luther . . . Lutheran . . . "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

There are, of course, scores of others and each of the foregoing wrote many other hymns. Isaac Watts alone wrote 600 . . . Charles Wesley, 6000.

When Pennsylvania's Methodist minister, John Hart Stockton, was not preaching or writing hymns, he could usually be found leading music at a camp meeting revival.

One day, in 1898, the 60-year-old Hoffman called at a home in Lebanon, Pa., where "God had permitted sorrow and affliction." To the distraught mother's repeated pleas "What shall I do . . . what shall I do?" Hoffman told the woman that she could do nothing better than "take your troubles to Jesus." "Yes," said she, "I must tell Jesus." Hoffman went to his study and wrote words and music for another hymn. He called it "I Must Tell Jesus."

IN 1873 THE REV. STOCKTON wrote both words and music for a hymn that began "Come every soul by sin oppressed, there's mercy with the Lord." Hymnals publish it under the title, "Only Trust Him." But when these two men of God combined their talents in one hymn, the world got a favorite that will bring back memories to anybody who ever attended an old-fashioned camp meeting. Stockton wrote the music, Hoffman the words.

"It takes off with a strange whistling, whining noise, like this—ss ss ss sc—Then it becomes supersonic, and you can't hear it," he said.

Milano is firmly convinced flying saucers do exist, they are not of this planet, and it is high time us earth people came to terms with them.

self, and my wife's seen several."

Frank's ability to imitate the sound of a flying saucer stems from a highly educated set of vocal chords that earn him $35,000 to $50,000 a year. He is one of the nation's few professional animal imitators and vocal effects artists.

Milano, a pleasant, mild-mannered ex-actor, drifted into his specialty by accident. But today radio and television would be hard put to do without him. He does the voice effects for half a dozen programs, ranging from a pup on the routine kazootie show to a live parrot on the Bill Goodwin show.

"I can imitate anything from a cricket to a roaring lion," Frank said. "I've been a gorilla, an elephant, a burro, Rip Van Winkle's dog, and even a mosquito."

He has also been the voice of a motor boat with a sense of humor, a wayward bus, a jet-propelled spoon, and an automobile starter with a rundown battery. Oh, yes, he also was a rice krispie for a while. His "snap, crackle and pop" performance in that role is, of course, now a part of theatrical history — like Hamlet.

"I like imitating mechanical gadgets," Frank said. "Right now I'm playing the part of a washing machine — eug, chug, glug, glug, glug. I can also make a sound like a squadron of talking airplanes, but none of the airlines will buy it for a commercial. They say it's too frightening."

The animals he hates most to imitate are bears. Scratches his vocal chords.

"Animal battles — two stallions fighting it out, or a mountain lion fighting a horse — are hard on my throat, too," he said. "I guess I like to do dogs best. There are only two kinds of dog barks really — big dog barks and little dog barks."

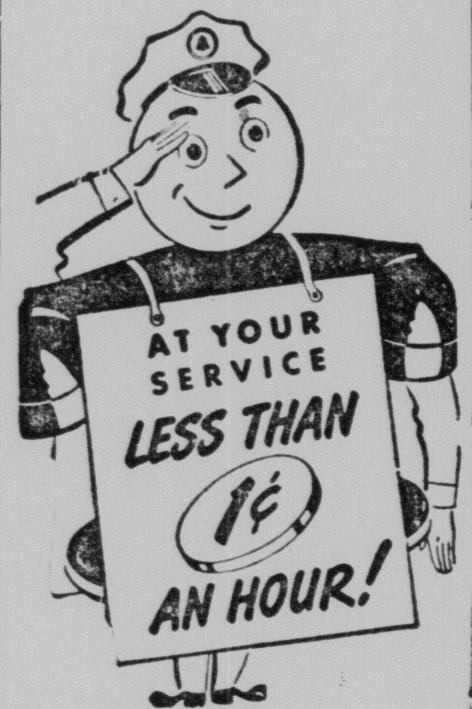

"Dogs have been very important in my career. Some day I'd like to retire and raise them. I owe them a lot."

Frank takes his art seriously, goes to endless lengths to be certain his sounds are realistic. His toughest assignment was to imitate a talking eagle.

"I haunted the zoo for days, but the eagles wouldn't talk, although I tried 300 different sounds on them trying to get them to answer," he said. "Finally, during a trip to the country, I heard a couple of eagles screeching at night. I got out of bed and screeched back at them until I had the sound down pat."

All great artists have their sorrows, and Frank has his. There is one sound he has never been able to imitate.

"I can't tinkle like a bell," he said. "I have tried and tried, but I can't make it. So far as I know nobody can. If you could vocalize like a bell — well, you'd really have something, wouldn't you?"

AN ETERNAL FORCE

The wind is like the power of God.

It is invisible—you can neither see nor touch it. And yet it will carry a sailboat skimming across the waves with all the beauty and grace and freedom of a seagull.

But whereas the wind may die and leave you drifting aimlessly and helplessly with the tide, the strength of God remains eternally steadfast.

It is through the Church that man is given understanding of this Power. For by worshipping God he can acquire the spiritual insight which gives fuel to his soul and purpose for his pursuits.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Bohlen's Case

It would be interesting to know how the one-party rulers of Russia choose ambassadors to serve in the United States. For them, this must be an even trickier business than it is for us to find the right American to send to Moscow.

Charles E. Bohlen, for instance, is objected to by Sen. McCarthy, Washington's relentless expert on disloyalty, because he has had previous contact with Russian affairs. That was George Kennan's weakness, too. He knew something about the country.

Bohlen has been working to qualify himself as an ambassador for 25 years. He has made a career of the diplomatic service. Being a careerist, he necessarily had to serve under some Democratic administrations.

Knowing how to speak Russian, he necessarily went along to a series of meetings with officials of the U.S.S.R. Being a man of wide information and an alert mind, he necessarily expressed opinions occasionally and made some personal contributions to policy. Moreover, he went to Harvard and knew Alger Hiss, a suspicious circumstance shared by several thousand young men who went to Harvard in the late twenties.

Perhaps the United States should start right now to raise ambassadors for Russian service in the years to come. They shouldn't go to school anywhere. They shouldn't know anything about diplomacy. They shouldn't leave the country. They shouldn't know how to speak Russian. They should have no opinions and no experience and preferably should be deaf-mutes.

Fortunately, members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee are not alarmed about Bohlen because Sen. McCarthy has attacked him as the latest excuse to take a dig at Secretary of State Dulles. Like many others these days, they are alarmed about McCarthy.

Something For The Goose

The most respected member of Congress on tax problems is Sen. George of Georgia, ranking Democrat on the Senate Finance Committee.

He is one of a bipartisan majority in Congress whose members concede that the excess profits tax—so-called, is vicious and un-American, in the sense that it penalizes small-business enterprises trying to grow larger.

It does this by designating as "excess profits" one-sixth of all earnings in excess of average earnings for the three best years of 1946 through 1949. This designation imposes an "excess-profits" tax of 82 per cent, instead of the normal-profits tax of 52 per cent.

Sen. George thinks the way to show appreciation of a goose that lays golden eggs is to keep it alive, not penalize it for productivity. He would substitute an increase of 2 per cent in normal-profits tax for the 30 per cent increase now imposed on "excess profits."

This would have been out of the question when creeping socialists insisted on using federal taxes to punish private enterprise. But why should it be out of the question when creeping socialists have been retired temporarily to their Fabian hideaways to wait for the hoped-for day when they will be given another chance to kill the private-enterprise geese?

Benefit Performance

The answer to a puzzle that baffles many basketball fans and players is being given in Kansas City as big-time coaches go into their annual rule-juggling huddle.

These men depend on a good showing in their special kind of basketball — the kind played by outstanding stars capable of running up fantastic scores and getting nationwide publicity. They have designed modern basketball.

It is their game. They like it just the way it is, because they made it that way.

There is no squawking, no bewildered head-shaking, no determination among them to give basketball back to the boys. Small-time coaches who must grin and bear it when their under-six-foot players are penalized for defensive play, small-time referees who must grin and bear the criticism of spectators who grow tired of whistle-toting and small-time spectators who thought basketball was a pretty good game before it was taken over by the two-points-a-minute coaches and their seven-foot point-makers are the least of their worries.

Nothing For Nothing

The idea of an Ohio auto inspection for $1 suggests the wisecrack they made about the medical inspection of draftees during the war — if they were warm they were accepted.

The whole thing would be a make-work project for garages which qualified for inspection licenses. Its main effect would be in the form of what it would cause owners of borderline vehicles to do to their rambling wrecks before showing up for inspection. For $1, minus 10 cents for state administrative expenses, minus the cost of the license, no garage could do more than count the wheels and headlights.

If word got around that a state highway patrolman might do the same thing on impulse at no extra charge at all, the effect on the jalopy would be the same.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you.—Matthew 7:7.

Three doors are in the temple where men go up to pray, And they that wait at the outer gate may enter by either way. —George Matheson

Today's Message

It is significant that the disciples, after seeking the evidences of their Master's power, asked not for the grace of miracle-working but approached Him with the request that He teach them to pray. The Sermon on the Mount had much to say about the prayer life. Our text is illustrative of the three-fold approach which the soul can make to the Father. Here is a three-fold way of praying:

Ask! This is the gate that is used most frequently. Nowhere is there any condemnation of this way of prayer. Rather it is commended, though naturally this is not the whole of prayer. Seek! The questing soul is the one who is ready to plunge through hardships and failure to achieve the goal of his search. The spirit of the student, the pioneer, enters by this gate. Honest doubters are men who use this portal of prayer. Knock! Here is the hardest gateway of grace. It opens only after long and repeated knocking. Importunity is commended by Jesus; storming the gates of Heaven has been the practice of many noble saints. As one of Lloyd Douglass' characters puts it, "The one who really prays must have bloody knuckles."

Ask, Seek, Knock—these are the gates of grace; through these portals we go up together, Christians all over the world, to pray to our God through Jesus Christ.

—FREDERICK W. CROPP
General Secretary,
American Bible Society,
New York.

Today's Prayer

Father, give each his answer—each in his kindred way. Adapt Thy light to his power of night, and grant him his needed day. Amen.

Eisenhower Respects Rights Of Congress

It is coming as something of a surprise to many people here to learn that there really is a Republican president in the White House.

They have gotten so used to the dictatorial and intolerant attitude of Democratic presidents in the last 20 years toward Congress that when Dwight Eisenhower refuses to get into a fight with Congress but prefers instead to respect it as a coordinate branch of the government, they say he is surrendering his prerogatives.

There are lots of people in the New Deal and Fair Deal group who for years have regarded Congress as a secondary and unimportant institution to be browbeaten or ridiculed, while the chief executive has been exalted as if he had the powers of a dictator.

There are people here who really believe the executive power is such that it must be absolute and that the elected representatives of the people must follow a White House leader on everything.

Over in Germany in the '30's they taught the doctrine of "Our Leader" to the point where the national legislative body became a rubber stamp. Fortunately under the American system, the Congress and the Supreme Court and the Presidency constitute a three-headed form of government deliberately created by our forefathers to prevent one branch from encroaching on another.

It may be novel, but certainly it is no sin for members of the Senate to want to take a look at a presidential nomination. Otherwise, the constitutional requirement that important appointments can be valid only if "the advice and consent" of the Senate has been obtained would be meaningless. What else does "advice and consent" mean but examination of all the facts?

Not long ago critics of the administration were applauding because the appointment of a secretary of defense was carefully examined before confirmation.

Today, when some senators want to look into the background of a man chosen to be ambassador to Soviet Russia in these troublous times, the impression is conveyed that this is somehow out of order and that a president's selection for ambassador is sacrosanct and not subject to careful investigation and prolonged debate if necessary before confirmation is voted or refused.

There is also the general power of Congress to investigate which is being criticized. Persistent efforts have been made by sympathizers with the New Deal and the Truman "red herring" attitude toward subversives in the government to persuade President Eisenhower to denounce all such inquiries. But Congress appropriates the money for executive departments and agencies of the government and has a right to check on what is happening to the taxpayers' money and to see if laws that bar sub-

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERMAN

Detroit is showing a glass-topped automobile and it should have great appeal for some of our crockery-headed drivers.

The motorist who never keeps his eyes on the road will now have some place to look in addition to right, left and in the glove compartment.

But my barber says it raises a problem of whom to call first in an accident, the tow car or the glazier.

I said, "Well, you probably can get a nice sun-tan as you ride along," and he said, "A sun tan and all the bricks that kids can drop off roofs."

If these glass topped cars get popular though, more than one courtroom story will begin with, "I was riding along with my girl and it was a nice moonlight night."

All I know is that the accident insurance new costs more than the car. One more boost in rates and we'll have to give up the car to keep the insurance.

versives from the government are being enforced.

Whenever a member of Congress expresses a viewpoint different from the executive, the tendency of the Roosevelt-Truman-indocinated folks around here is to magnify it into a piece of serious friction or a first-class row. Yet the Constitution says that only the House of Representatives may originate tax legislation—not the president and not the Senate.

Who has a better right to advocate tax reduction than Representative Reed, of New York, Republican, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee?

The theory that Mr. Eisenhower has been elected "leader" of both Congress and the Executive Branch is fallacious.

One of the finest things about the new president is his respect for the rights of Congress.

He can, of course, express at any time his own views on tax laws he may intend to sign or veto, but even a Democratic president who vetoed a tax bill found that two-thirds of Congress, under the leadership of Alben Barkley, overrode that veto.

It has been said that foreign policy is the exclusive province of the president. That is a distortion of fact.

The president, under the Constitution, has the exclusive right to communicate with or carry on negotiations with foreign governments, but the Constitution also says that when an agreement is reached the treaty can be ratified only by the "advice and consent" of the Senate, expressed by a two-thirds vote.

There are some disadvantages. To be sure, in a separation of the powers of the executive and legislative branches of the government, but until the Constitution is amended to consolidate the executive and legislative into a single government, as is done under a parliamentary system, there can be no recognition of the executive as superior to the legislative branch of government. Each still has its own responsibility.

It is a lesson in the American form of government which is being ignored by many who keep on assuming that Mr. Eisenhower has been elected dictator of the entire government, including Congress.

Party responsibility in legislation is desirable, but where international affairs are concerned and where the public interest must rise above party, the rights of Congress are as important as the rights of the executive.

Just The Guy We've Been Looking For

Malenkov's Purge Pills

By GAULT MacGOWAN

Klement Gottwald's "sudden death"—whatever the immediate cause—is seen as a direct aid to Georgi M. Malenkov's policy of putting his own "yes-men" in control of all satellite states and foreign Communist parties.

Slated as next to go of Stalin's former foreign lieutenants are said to be Jacques Duclos, French Communist boss; Wilhelm Pieck, ailing president of Red Germany; and Matyas Rakosi, premier of the Hungarian satellite government.

The closing weeks of Stalin's existence were marked by state trials of formerly highly trusted Russian doctors who were accused of having fostered the death of an impressive list of victims.

Like all Communists, Russian doctors are obliged to follow the party line and work to orders. Their method of fostering death was given as "using wrong treatments." Soviet doctors were among those at the deathbed of the Czechoslovak president.

Soviet science is highly fostered and Kremlin propaganda continually boasts of medical achievements. Visiting foreign scientists have testified frequently to the encouragement given to Soviet science and no Western secrets of curative medicine or the use of penicillin have been hidden from them.

When Winston Churchill caught pneumonia after the war, his life was saved by the use of penicillin. There was no reference to the use of it in the bulletins from Prague.

Another current medical mystery is the health of the former French Communist leader, Maurice Thorez. He went to Moscow in 1951 for medical treatment and has not been allowed to return home.

When the present Communist leader in France, Jacques Duclos, went to Stalin's funeral, he was not allowed to see Thorez. In any other country he would at least have visited his former comrade and boss. The only evidence that Thorez is still alive rests on a telegram of sympathy in his name.

that arrived from the hospital in the Crimea where he is said to be.

Assassinations appear to have been outdated behind the Iron Curtain. So are Hitler's methods of obliging his fallen favorites to commit suicide. Neither assassinations nor suicides are necessary in a purge when state doctors take orders for life or death.

The Soviet 99 per cent election system obliges whoever achieves power by this method to appoint party bosses who will maintain that average of polling.

As Malenkov's elevation to supreme power has not yet been confirmed by the formality of a people's election, it may be assumed that to get solidarity before the 99 per cent rule is applied, he must have his own men in power everywhere.

To make his appointment popular through the Red universe, he cannot risk any dissension in the Communist Internationale.

France today has become one of the Communist weak spots. The party is split wide open by the purge of Andre Marty, France's most popular revolutionary figure and his lieutenant, Charles Tillon, who in postwar French governments held the post of minister of armament.

Neither of these men would today risk treatment by a Soviet doctor and say so frankly to their friends. Marty is 66 and despite an icy winter in France has so far avoided pneumonia.

Red leaders are not immortal, but they seem to have more actual insurable lives when they live this side of the Iron Curtain.

From Malenkov's viewpoint, Red German Communist leadership is not strong enough and too many refugees are escaping through Berlin to the West.

President Pieck is not expected to live long. His death might also be a convenient coincidence and easily explained because he is 77 years old. Were he not being attended by Soviet doctors he might be expected to reach 80. Affairs are being managed by Walter Ulbricht, secretary general of the German Communist party.

Malenkov, though he has not been long in supreme power, has already been given the character of an "Asiatic ogre." He is reported as taking a sadistic delight in witnessing executions arranged by secret police chief Lavrenti P. Beria, now his closest daily associate.

Seen in the light of what is happening, the Moscow purges of Jews and doctors appear to have been staged by Malenkov and Beria in the closing weeks of Stalin's life, when his hand was slack on the helm.

Communist dissident circles here believe that the two men, with V. M. Molotov, saw the end coming and used the trials and purges to tighten their own hands on the reins.

This explains why Beria never was held responsible in the doctors' trials for not having unearthed the alleged conspiracy to hasten the end of ailing Red leaders.

Stalin apparently knew too much about the Kremlin doctors to have them close to him as he became conscious of his approaching end. He installed an entirely new panel of medical specialists to attend him.

From Our Readers

Differs On Red Cross

The News: In answer to "Winona Resident," I'm afraid your views and mine differ somewhat on the virtues of the Red Cross. The answers I have heard from servicemen as to why they don't contribute is not only "What did they ever do for me?" but when they did give aid, "coffee and donuts," or whatever, they were holding out their hands right then and there for the payment of same.

Furthermore, on the subject of national emergency, floods, tornadoes, and the like for which they advertise that they provide for relief victims, it seems to me every time a disaster of such nature occurs, an additional appeal is made at that time to take care of these disasters which is one specific job the agency is supposed to cover according to their annual appeal for funds.

I believe that the Red Cross, together with various other charities, spends entirely too much money in the outlay of funds for literature during these campaigns. I know that this year alone in the Red Cross folders sent to local organizations, factories, etc. there were seven different items, four of which were to be given to the contributors, which they will, without doubt, dispose of at their earliest opportunity.

Just what does the Red Cross membership card mean and to what does it entitle the bearer? This is my biggest "beef." The instructions clearly state that no membership card shall be given to any contributor who gives less than $1.00. Does the organization refuse the quarters, half-dollars, and less than one dollar contributions? No, you bet they don't, then why in all decency should they not acknowledge any and every contribution regardless of size?

Another outlay of funds which I can't quite see is the amount spent for "public show." It is true, vehicles of transportation are essential in a service of this nature, but must the headquarters of the service be housed in the best and biggest of the homes and buildings as seen in some of our large cities? It seems, also, that the workers could carry on their jobs without being clothed in uniform from head to toe, why not an arm-band type of identification for such workers?

It looks as though the real purpose of this organization has been lost. I think this money should be kept in the organization for the purpose for which it was intended in the first place. We are not overlooking the good that the Red Cross has done or is doing, rather they are flaunting in our faces the unnecessary spending which is causing them to ever increase their drives.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Spring Comes To U.N.

Spring, having the warm approval of most of the world as she comes "laughing down the valley," we can't avoid wondering what the Soviet attitude is. Can the U.S.S.R. join in any agreement that spring is here, and that it should be welcomed? Can the delegates from Russia and her satellites accept the view of fifty-five nations that the vernal season is at hand? We think not.

It is too much to expect that Moscow will concede that April's approach is innocent. The violet, the lilac bed and the peepers in the meadow can get a veto. The swallows' return to Capistrano can meet strenuous opposition from the Kremlin. The first robin can be shot down by Russia for a border violation. (It might even be charged with shooting first.)

--

It is easy to fancy a U.N. discussion:

Mr. Lodge.—Mister Chairman, I wish to express my appreciation of the end of winter and the advent of the vernal season.

Mr. Gromyko.—The gentleman is out of order. Any reference to spring at this session is a clear violation of procedural rules. Spring is not on the agenda, as the whole world knows.

Mr. Lodge.—I insist that it is proper to express approval of spring and show a friendly regard for it. This morning I saw a crocus.

Mr. Gromyko.—The U.S.S.R. is the best friend the crocus ever had, but the charter of U.N. does not permit any discussion of the crocus.

Mr. Lodge.—I should like to read from a famous opinion on the season.

Spring, the sweet spring, is the year's pleasant king;

Then blows each thing, the maids dance in a ring;

Cold doth not sting; the pretty birds do sing—

Cuckoo, jug-jug, pu-we, to-witta-woo!

A Polish Delegate—If spring is a king it is out of date and unworthy of mention. Maids dancing in a ring are a proof of the decadent world outside the U.S.S.R. And my government is aware that the last line of that verse constitutes a code message. Jug-jug, pu-we, to-witta-woo messages have been constantly intercepted and shown to be a part of the conspiracy against the U.S.S.R. by the warmongers.

Mr. Lodge.—As Wordsworth once said:

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd—
A host of golden daffodils.

Czechoslovakian Speaker—This is a clear admission of spying in the airlines. It is an act of aggression to wander in that manner over vales and hills, and shows a contempt for borders.

Sir Gladwyn Jebb—If I may say so, I should like to get on the record the matchless lines of Thomas Gray in which he speaks of "the rosy-bosomed hours winking the purple year."

Mr. Gromyko.—The rosy-bosomed hours are an invention of Anglo-American ruling circles. Their desire to wake the purple year masks germ warfare. The liberty-loving peaceful people of the world will not be fooled. Etc.

(Take it from there.)

We are living in an age when a man feels underprivileged if he has to keep the auto for a second year.

One of the most disturbed fellows we ever saw was an Irishman who, after 18 hours of St. Patrick's Day parades and banquets, got word he would have to RETURN to the old country.

Can you remember away back when even a poor man wanted his house to have an upstairs room?

Soviet States have lost two dictators in March and the Kremlin will doubtlessly declare March an enemy month.

Sen. Taft's son, William Howard Taft III, will be U.S. Ambassador to Ireland. . . . He speaks Gaelic fluently, has been a student of Ireland since early youth and can even hold up his end in a quartet giving out with "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling."

A fashion show was held in a Wall Street brokerage office the other day. . . . Feature was, of course, a gown which the wearer can get into on the ground floor.

The sketches on the jackpot winner and the hotel that took dogs but excluded people gave the last Talullah TV program a lift.

There are so many boxing bouts on video these days that TV fans are advised to go to a neutral channel between rounds. . . . Can you remember away back when you got game from a $10 bill?

The East had the mildest winter in years. . . . There wasn't a snow removal scandal over a half an inch deep.

President Eisenhower has come out against socialized medicine. . . . He holds that the Democrats believe in it, and look at the shape they're in!

Emmanuel Lutheran Girls Choir Hears Review Of Costain Book

"The Silver Chalice," written by Thomas Costain, was ably reviewed by Mrs. J. Atlee Frederick of Navarre before a large audience of members of the Emmanuel Lutheran Girls Choir and their guests at the church Friday evening.

The choir, directed by Mrs. W. J. Seeman, brought Mrs. Frederick to Salem for this benefit review. The proceeds will assist in the purchase of new robes for the group. Mrs. Gilbert Timm was mistress of ceremonies, introducing Mrs. Frederick, who is well-known for her interpretation of the books of the day.

Basil, the "sculptor of Antioch," is the principal character of "The Silver Chalice" which portrays the awakening of a young man's soul through the teachings of Jesus and the character of His followers. Basil's companions in the book include Biblical personalities Luke, the physician, Paul, Peter, Joseph of Aramathea and Deborah, the woman Basil married.

Adding to the enjoyment of the evening was the singing by the Girls Choir. Miss Katherine Minth is pianist. In conclusion refreshments were served at a table beautifully appointed with spring-time flowers.

Helen Madden Feted At Birthday Party

Helen Madden came home from school Thursday afternoon to find a group of youngsters from Prospect School on hand to surprise her in the celebration of her ninth birthday. The party, in the St. Patrick's Day theme, was arranged by her mother, Mrs. Bernard J. Madden of W. State St.

Prizes in the games went to Karen Pauline, Mary Lou Earley, and Marge Lee Todd. Other guests were Pamela Schuster, Cheryl Milnarcik, Doris Galchek, Sheila Guess, Kathy Moore, Agnes Madden, Ruth Jacobson, Bonnie Baxter Sandra Snyder and Georgiana Wukotich. The youngsters brought gifts for Helen.

A cake, lighted with nine candles, was made by Helen's mother to serve with the refreshments. Favors were cups filled with candy. Lois Madden assisted with her sister's party and led the guests in singing songs.

Miss Murphy Is Guest At Hi-Lo Club Meeting

Miss Patricia Murphy was a guest when Mrs. James Laughlin of Alliance entertained Hi-Lo Club members Thursday night.

Games of 500 were enjoyed and prizes went to Miss Marge Willis and Miss Murphy. Mrs. Daniel Englert received the traveling prize.

Mrs. Robert Hodge of E. Fourth St. has invited the group to meet in her home April 2.

Newcomers Club Names New Officers

Mrs. Robert Watterson III is the new president of the Newcomers Club, succeeding Mrs. Eugene Owens, who has moved to Akron. Mrs. Watterson was formerly vice president and Mrs. Wendell Church succeeded her in that office.

This business was transacted at the Thursday evening meeting of the Newcomers Club in the home of Mrs. William Ehret of Highland Ave. A large group of women welcomed three newcomers to Salem, including Mrs. Bruno Stanga, who came from Columbus, Mrs. Kenneth Colgan of Reno, Nev., and Mrs. Tony Martinelli of Hastings, Minn.

Mrs. Frank Pickens was named to the telephone committee. A lunch in the St. Patrick's Day theme was served by Mrs. Roy Meyer, Mrs. T. E. Dixon, Mrs. William Berry, Mrs. Wesley Becker, Mrs. James Downing and Mrs. Vesta King.

"The secret of decorating is what you do with what you have" according to Mrs. Thomas Howett, guest speaker, whose topic dealt with interior decorating. Mrs. Howett, who was introduced by Mrs. George Conrad, program chairman, used materials, charts and sketches to illustrate her theme.

Four different styles of furniture discussed are American, Georgian, American and French provincial and modern, and Mrs. Howett explained the makeup with fabrics and colors. Columbiana

Manos Theater
Plans PremiereModern Movie House
Plans April 1 Opening

COLUMBIANA — The most modern theater in this area will have a Hollywood premiere opening April 1 when Manos Theaters launches its 20th house.

Located on the square in Columbiana, this $230,000 project, under construction since 1950, is equipped with the most advanced features.

Notable among these is the projection equipment which enables the theater to show both conventional movies and the new three dimensional pictures, the latter without the aid of special glasses for the patrons.

An unusual feature is a "cry room" on the second floor. This is a glass-enclosed room where mothers with young children may come to see and wait without disturbing other patrons.

The 800-seat house allows a full 40 inches between rows, compared to the 32 required by law.

The theater also is ready for the inauguration of theater-television.

THE RED CROSS bloodmobile obtained 102 pints of blood from 119 donors Thursday on its visit to Columbiana. Although short of the quota of 125 pints, the persons in charge of the mobile were well pleased, as the percentage of quota was well above the average.

This second visit of the bloodmobile was sponsored by York Drexler Post, V.F.W., and its Auxiliary.

Dr. J. C. Mills of Pittsburgh and several assistants from the Pittsburgh Red Cross headquarters had charge of the bloodmobile, and Robert Henry of East Palestine, chairman of the Columbiana County Red Cross, and Mrs. Jane Calhoun of Lisbon, chairman of the Columbiana County blood bank, also assisted, along with a number of members of the V.F.W. Auxiliary. Mrs. Pauline Drexler was chairman of the auxiliary committee.

GAMMA ETA Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held its business and educational meeting, Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. Edward Gustafson, Howard St., when Miss Leona Ehrhart reported that records had been purchased for the Columbiana public library and presented at a meeting of the library board. To further the project, it was decided to seek donations toward a fund.

F. Edward Harris, speech therapist in the Salem Schools, speaker for the evening, gave an interesting and informing talk on hearing and speech defects, their causes and what is being done to aid children and adults afflicted by these handicaps. A feeling of insecurity, he said, can greatly affect the speech of a child with no physical handicaps. Love, humor and consistency in the treatment of a child were cited as three important ways of imparting the security needed to help the child grow to normal adulthood.

The next meeting will be the jewel pin ceremony, initiation of pledges, to take place at the Lutheran Church at 6 p.m. Sunday, March 29. A formal dinner at Heck's restaurant will follow at 8 p.m. Mrs. Norce Bailey of Lisbon will be the installing officer for the pledges. Husbands and parents will be guests.

TWO NEW MEMBERS. Mrs. Hazel Reareck and Mrs. Marion Poulton, were received into the Sorosis Club at its March meeting in the public library Wednesday evening. Under the topic, "Thumbnail Sketches," Mrs. Paul Ross and Mrs. Clarence Smith read papers on names in the news, and Mrs. C. E. Bender gave short reviews of books of fiction, and Miss Nell Koch of books on non-fiction.

Mrs. Ralph Hum read a paper on Albert Schweitzer. In the absence of Mrs. G. R. Bilger, president, Mrs. Paul Reeves presided. The next meeting will be at the library Wednesday evening, April 15, with Mrs. Stewart Brown as hostess.

First Lieut. Ruth M. Pine of Columbiana, army nurse formerly at Wright-Patterson Field, Dayton, and Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, is now on the staff of a U. N. hospital on the island of Iwakuni off the coast of Japan. Miss Pine is a graduate of Columbiana High School.

Mary E. DeLauter, graduate of Columbiana High School, is enrolled at Davis Campus of the University of California. Miss DeLauter plans to major in English.

Supreme Representative Frank Wood announces at the meeting of Columbiana Lodge, K. of P., Thursday evening, that the past chancellors of District No. 1, embracing Northeastern Ohio counties, will meet with the lodge here at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 28, when there will be candidates from over the district. Columbiana Lodge conferred the second degree for Washingtonville candidates Thursday.

Merchants, Manufacturers Look To Boom Season In Sales

NEW YORK (AP)—Spring makes its official bow today. Merchants and manufacturers will be watching the next few weeks anxiously to see if their customers prove them right in their gamble that this is to be a booming season for sales.

In most sections merchants report shoppers are stepping up their spending. In most places store sales are running ahead of last year — Easter's coming a week earlier this year is a big help.

Mild weather in many parts of the country is bringing out shoppers early. Dun & Bradstreet reports today most merchants are confident of selling more Easter finery than in any previous year. In the stock market, traders are looking for signs of the traditional spring rise.

Auto output this week is at the highest level in two years. The test will come in a few weeks as the traditional big selling season for cars gets under way.

Tourist and shipping agencies are betting on the biggest vacation season ever.

Farmers are completing their plans, too, as spring arrives. Worried by falling prices and still high costs, many farmers are planning to cut back on some planting, such as spring wheat and corn, the government reports. But taking plantings of all crops as a whole, the Agriculture Department expects a record harvest this year — if the weather holds.

For the economy as a whole, Commerce Secretary Weeks paints a glowing picture, as spring bows in. He sees "solid confidence" in the business outlook, with manufacturers planning to spend more than ever on machinery, new plants and equipment.

Lewis H. McDowell, 26, of Wana, W. Va., was arrested by police for reckless operation on E. State St. Friday at 9:55 p.m.

He forfeited a $25 bond when he failed to appear for a hearing before Mayor Harry M. Vincent this morning.

Junior Class Play Is Well Received

A near capacity crowd at the Salem High School auditorium enthusiastically received Friday night's performance of the Junior Class play, "Professor, How Could You?"

The play, directed by Irene Weeks, will be repeated tonight at 8:15.

Tom Ehrhart was well cast as Grandpa Perry. Other members of the cast include Barbara Smith and Charles Jones, who play the lead roles, Jean Kirby, Gary Moffet, Carol Jo Byrns, Jo Ann Capel, William Megert, Nancy Zeck, Sanford Hansell, Betty Moore, Carol Wilde and George Nannah.

Miss Weeks introduced nearly 100 committee members who handle stage lighting, properties, wardrobe and makeup.

The garden backdrop was painted by members of the art classes and the house interior was cleverly decorated by Ingrid Nyberg, Janie Myers, Shirleen Bowman and Rose Marie Sulea.

Bookholders and understudies were Marjorie Miller and Glen Thomas. Sally Moore and Edward Votaw were mistress and master of the stage.

Joyce Cosgrove, Jon Zeigler, Audith Galchick and Donald Schuck were the senior directors and Marjorie Hannay, John Dupal and Robert Talbot were the junior directors.

Music was furnished by the high school orchestra.

Canton Murder Case Up For Trial Again

CANTON, O. (AP)—For the second time, the necktie murder case against Russell Muskus of Kankakee, Ill., is expected to go to a common pleas jury Monday.

Muskus is charged with strangling George LeMasters with a necktie after attractive Miss Sandra Kingsley lured the New Philadelphia man to a hotel room here.

Convicted in 1951, Muskus won a new trial from the Ohio Supreme Court on grounds of irregularities in courtroom procedure. Miss Kingsley, convicted in the crime, was sentenced to the Marysville Reformatory for Women.

The defense has contended someone killed LeMasters after Muskus and Miss Kingsley left the room. It also holds someone tampered with Muskus' statement after he gave it to police.

Royal Navy Reports Reds Capture U.S. Boat

HONG KONG (AP)—The Royal Navy reported today a sailing boat flying the American flag—and believed to be carrying two U. S. newsmen—was captured today by the Chinese Communists.

The Navy observatory said the sailing boat was intercepted and captured by an armed Chinese junk about five miles off Lantau Island.

The boat was believed occupied by United Press Correspondent Dick Applegate of Medford, Ore., Donald Nixon, of International News Service correspondent and five other persons.

LIFTS QUARANTINE

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Dr. James R. Hay, state veterinarian, Friday night lifted a quarantine of 11 hogs on a Fayette County farm when tests showed none of the animals was infected with vesicular exanthema. Quarantine remained on 80 hogs on a Roail County farm where a case of the hog disease was found.

ROAD HEARINGS END

LISBON — Columbiana county commissioners Friday completed conferences with the 18 township officials pertaining to the county's 1953 road program.

Youngstown Man Arrested By FBI

CLEVELAND (AP)—The FBI has filed federal car theft charges against Robert E. De Arment, 34, a Youngstown used car dealer.

Norman F. McCabe, Cleveland FBI chief, said De Arment was arrested in a Greyhound bus here shortly after he sold a 1950 Cadillac to an east side dealer here for $2,425. McCabe said the car had been stolen in Cincinnati and that De Arment was charged with taking it across state lines in an effort to sell it in Pittsburgh, Pa.

U.S. To Seize Ships Trading With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. government has gone after 15 ships it says were trading with Communist countries and has announced it is pointing its legal weapons at many more.

Two separate actions were taken yesterday:

1. The Maritime Administration declared the mortgages on 14 Liberty ships sold to Greek companies in default because the owners had not submitted annual inspection certificates. This could be a preliminary to foreclosing the mortgages, but the owners have a chance to stave off that action.

2. At Transbay Richmond, Calif., the government seized the Seven Seas, a 10,195 ton tanker, charging it had been bought illegally by aliens using U. S. citizens as dummies.

The 14 Liberty ships were said to be scattered all over the world and the next step to be taken in their case was not immediately apparent.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said—and a Maritime Administration spokesman confirmed—that they were on a list of 96 that allegedly have been trading with Communist countries. McCarthy has been demanding that the government look into the possibility of repossessing the ships.

They are vessels sold, under mortgages, by the government. The terms of the mortgages place no restrictions on trading by the ships, the spokesman said, but they do require that certificates be filed annually to show the ships have been inspected and are being kept in good condition.

BUS DRIVERS PLAN STRIKE
SPRINGFIELD, O. (AP)—Springfield City Lines bus drivers and mechanics, seeking a shorter work week without reduction in pay, voted Friday night to strike at midnight March 31 if their demands are not met. The 102 employees, members of the AFL Street Car and Motor Coach Union, seek a 40 hour week instead of the present 45.

SIGNS WITH X'S
CHICAGO (AP)—An unidentified taxpayer returned to the office of the Internal Revenue Bureau Friday to make a correction on his return.

Director Ernest J. Sauber said the man originally had signed his tax return with an "X," explaining he could not write English. He changed the signature to "XX" and told Sauber: "I forgot I had two names."

RACE ENDS IN DEATH
COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A teen-ager auto race on Ohio 28 near Greenfield Friday ended in death for 19-year-old Fred Baldwin of Leesburg, the State Highway Patrol said. Baldwin and a 17-year-old youth were racing their autos three miles west of Greenfield when both cars overturned. The other youth escaped with minor injuries.

Ike Reportedly Rejects Plan For Boost In Military Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration apparently has turned thumbs down on proposals for a sizeable increase in former President Truman's $46,296,000,000 military spending program.

Informed members of Congress interpreted Secretary of Defense Wilson's statement yesterday — that there will be no boost in the Truman defense budget—as ruling out recommendations left on President Eisenhower's desk when Truman quit the White House.

As described by the legislators, these recommendations involved a several billion dollar boost in defense spending in the two years beginning July 1. Their disclosure recently to a group of congressional White House visitors caused some leaders to comment publicly at the time that the military picture was "grim."

The National Security Council is reported to have approved the proposed additions, but Truman was said to have taken no action on them in his final days in office, leaving the decision to Eisenhower.

Lawmakers said it was their understanding the added money would be used to rescind stretch-out orders in particularly critical items, such as the new B52 jet bombers.

Wilson did not discuss these recommendations at his news conference yesterday nor did he view the military picture as particularly grim.

He said he wishes the country were better prepared than it is, but he commented: "I don't think any of us should lay awake nights for fear we are going to be blasted into eternity tomorrow morning."

Still, he added, it might be well to "keep in a reasonable position to meet the Maker."

Wilson said he believes reductions can be made in manpower and spending without weakening combat strength. He forecast a reduction by July 1 of the 3½ million persons now in uniform.

Eisenhower has said in the past that the best defense force may not necessarily be the largest. The President told his news conference Thursday that the nation can't afford to reduce its combat strength, but savings could be made in administrative costs.

Wilson disclosed that the monthly rate of defense spending had been frozen at the January level of nearly four billion dollars, adding that he hopes the rate will not go up. He said also he hopes draft calls, now running about 53,000 a month, can be reduced.

It seemed apparent from Wilson's talk about spending cuts that no huge new outlays for atomic defenses are in the works — indicating he sees no ominous developments that might force the U. S. into expensive girding for atomic attack.

Competition

Business competition in times like these is bound to develop a regard for the rights of others. The keen competition among American bankers has developed a consideration for customers to a much greater degree than the branch banking systems of Europe, Canada and elsewhere.

The foremost thought of the officers of the First National Bank is to respect the right of their customers and to safeguard their deposits. The result is friendly, prudent and considerate bank.
